LEGISLATION FOR PLANT'S HOTEL

Passed in House by Four Majority But Will Apply To All Towns in the State-Lively Discussion on the Floor.

The lower branch of the general assembly Tuesday afternoon passed a bill which, if concurred in by the senate and signed by the governor, will become a general law under which in no-license towns a majority of the voters may in writing petition the county commissioners to grant a liquid uor license to a specified hotel for four months in each year beginning with June 1. This bill was the successor to the bill which had passed the senate last week which was to give the county commissioners the power to grant a liquor license to Morton F. Plant's hotel in Groton, the Griswold hotel, upon written petition of a majority of the voters in that town, which had favored no-license, in the senate Mr. Judson, in arguing in support of the favorable report of the judiciary committee, had said that he would have liked to have had the bill a general one.

Said That Governor Favors It. It had been known that Governor Baldwin had expressed himself in favor of the idea of granting liquor licenses to summer hotels of unquestioned standing, and when the Groton bill was called up for action by Representative Spicer of Groton, Representative Caine of Naugatuck offered an amendment which substituted for everything after the enacting clause a general bill which would allow the granting of ijouor license to any hotel granting of fiquor license to any hotel in any no-license town under the same terms proposed for Mr. Plant's hotel.

Called It Tomfoolery. Mr. Spicer of Groton tried to explain but in the confusion he was not heard until the speaker demanded order. Then Representative Peck of Stratford said that it looked to him as if the whole state was to be overturned just for one man. He said that the bill as offered provided no restricted. that the bill as offered provided no re-strictions against selling out of hours or against Sunday selling. "Because a man has a million or two, he thinks he can buy himself into anything he wants," said Mr. Peck. "I have an idea he thinks he can buy his way into

The Groton Situation.

Mr. Caine, defending his amendment, claimed that it would give greater restriction to liquor selling. Mr. Whiton went into a lengthy explanation of conditions in Groton. He said that the bill was special legislation but the history of the general assembly showed that special legislation is needed to hit a specific situation. The town had voted "No." The administration of the law rested with the local authorities who, under the influence of local opinion had winked at violations of the Representative Banks said that members should look upon the situation in a broad sense. This was 1911. People travel in automobiles, and when they come to a hotel in this state they expect and must have, if they would come here, food and refreshment, and even liquors served with the food. They are people accustomed to having what they want. Mr. Plant keeps this hotel not for what it brings in, but for the convenience of his guests. He does not depend customed to having what they want.

Mr. Plant keeps this hotel not for what it brings in, but for the convenience of his guests. He does not depend upon any profit if there is any profit. He gives away probably each year more than the hotel takes in. Mr. Banks said he favored the amendment the because he felt that in his town which votes no-license, a hotel should have a summer license if it is of the same character as Mr. Plant's hotel, and if it is to be granted under the same conditions as those proposed in the bill.

Representative Phillips of Stamford favored the bill.

Against Progress Days

Representative Belden of Newington Representative Belden of Newington opposed it, as it would tend to upset the license laws in no-license towns. He thought liquor would be sold in a hotel whether it had a license or not Representative Peck of Stratford said that some people's idea of progress is to get an automobile and "booze" and "booze" all the time, Sundays and week days. He was against progress downward. There are no restrictions downward. There are no restrictions against Sunday selling. Representa-tive Banks said there is the usual reservation as to selling on Sunday. He said that Mr. Peck is from Stratford and is also trial justice, and the place where people go to from Bridgeport to get liquor on Sunday. "Why be a
